Fremont Consolidated School

Fremont, Indiana

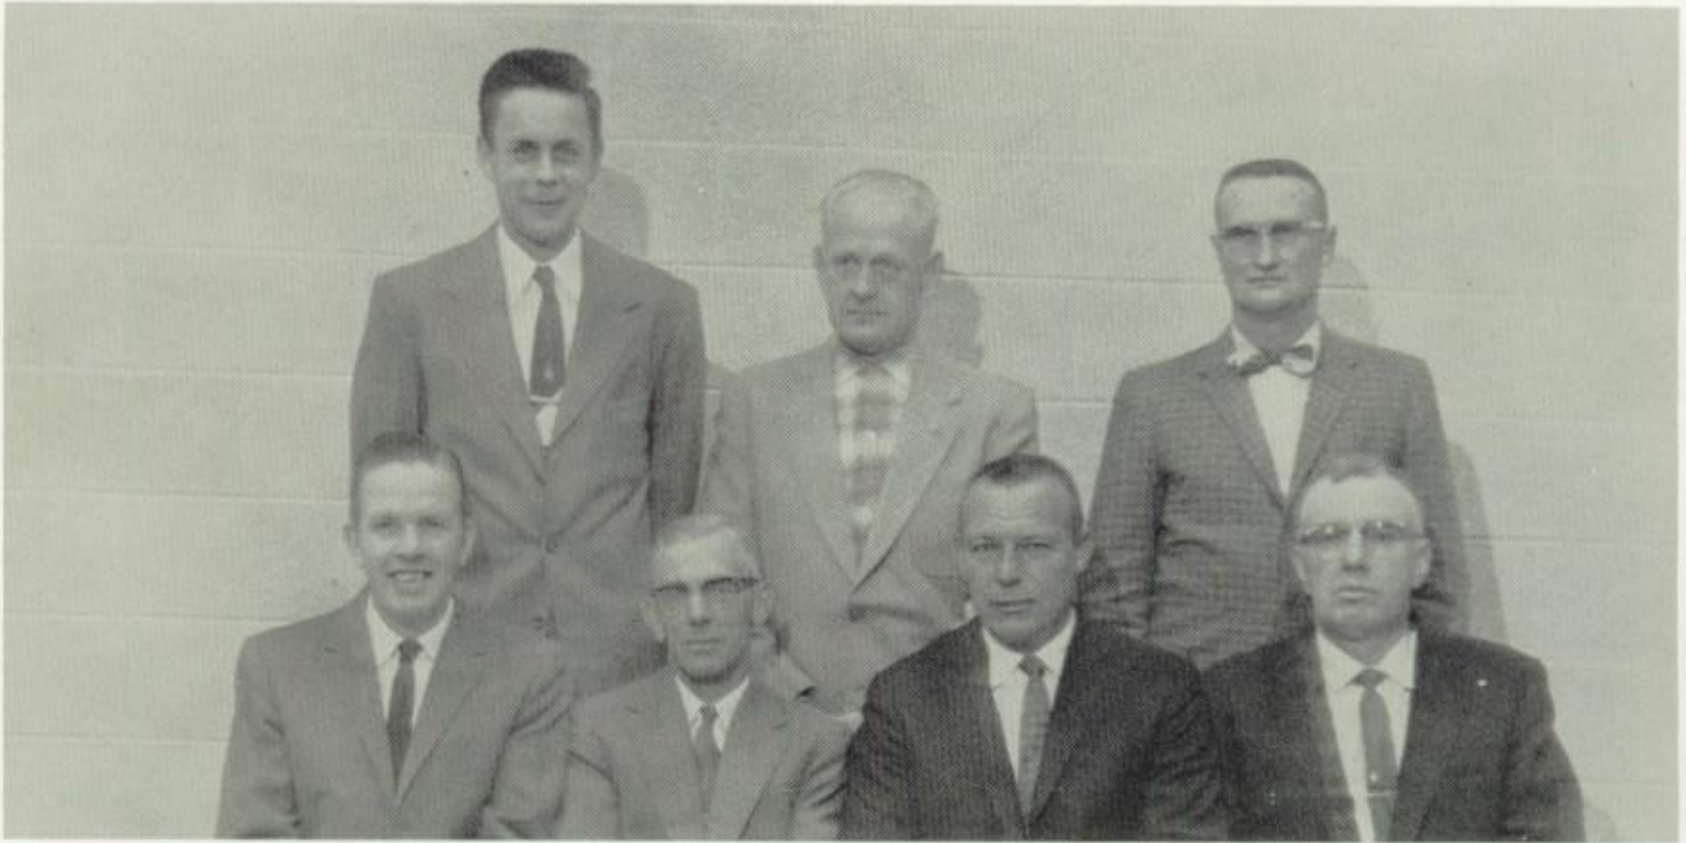

Foreword

Among the students who pass through the halls of FHS are those searching for success. Those students are preparing themselves for the long road ahead which will enable them to become successful citizens. This preparation includes participation in Christian organizations, music, athletics, and other character-building activities. These developed characters will then become the leaders of tomorrow.

With the experiences gained in classes and activities, the student can achieve respectable recognition from teachers, parents, and their fellow classmates. This recognition will set them aside as individuals upon whom other students depend, are led, and are considered as essential to the student body.

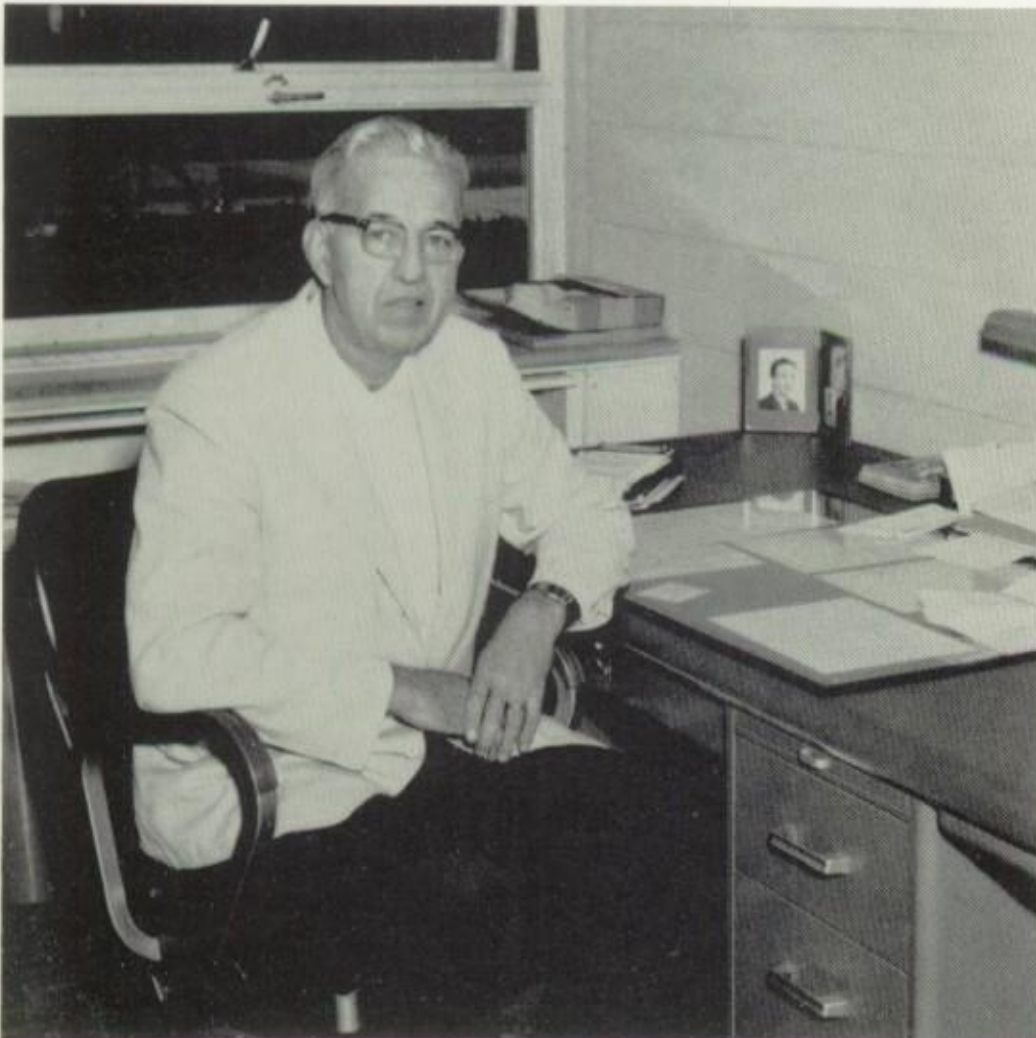

The important source of knowledge is gained through the school, home, church, and community which helps put forth ideals and standards by which his talents are shown. Through these essentials, these students will ascend from here to success.

School Board

The school board under the supervision of Mr. Mertz is a very valuable asset to the entire school system. These responsible men, as a group, make decisions on matters concerning school affairs and the welfare of the students. They are very important to a smooth running school and have accomplished a very thorough job.

Mr. Mertz

Mr. Mertz, superintendent of the Fremont Consolidated Schools, has an unending list of duties he must perform. He is head of the School Board and carries out its orders. With his friendly manner and guidance the school has functioned very efficiently.

Mr. Duke

Mr. Duke, our capable school principal, has been helpful to all teachers and students. He has advised everyone to his capacity and has upheld strict social standards. Among his various duties are to head clubs and organizations, plan school program, and create good will throughout the school.

Mrs. Marshall

Mrs. Marshall, Mr. Mertz's secretary, has various tasks which she must perform each day of the week. At her new office in the elementary school, she makes all announcements to the grades, takes care of the daily mail, and attends to many affairs to which a school secretary is credited.

Mrs. Hagler

Mrs. Hagler, better known as Grace, a friend to all, is very helpful not only to Mr. Duke as his secretary, but to every student in need of advice or counseling. She manages the cafeteria and keeps the office in tip-top shape. She must be commended on the fine job she does.

Activities

To maintain standards and express cooperation as essential factors to school life, activities have been created.

Through these various organizations the students are able to come before the public, sustain leadership, and become more beneficial to their school and community. They are labeled as healthy-minded, able-bodied individuals who will strive to do their best in everything they enter into.

The sponsors, an adequate source of responsibility, help to pass on to the students the worth of the organizations and work hard to keep the activity appealing to others.

These extra-curricular activities are essential to college applicants who wish to become a part of that college. Although the activities are limited to those who have the abilities to participate, they strive to maintain good sportsmanship, clean, healthy fun and better Christian attitudes. Development of these qualities serves to balance one's character and prepare him better for vicissitudes of life which will confront him sooner or later in his destination—success.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is made up of persons with a B plus or higher average. The members are chosen each year by the faculty. There are a total of twenty members consisting of twelve Seniors and eight Juniors. This organization is highly respected and it is an honor to belong. Leadership, Scholarship, Character, and Service are all essentials to membership in this club.

Tri-Hi-Y

The Tri-Hi-Y, a national organization for girls, was formed to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character. It is characterized by clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living. The club contributed $125 for the landscaping of the high school grounds and makes posters which are placed in the school halls to influence the students' Christian way of thinking.

Hi-Y

In the life of every young person there are many social, environmental, and economic pressures challenging Christian standards. Through the aid of such organizations as the YMCA, from which Hi-Y is branched, fortification of the character, which they are striving to achieve is encouraged. Under the supervision of capable instructors, today's young citizens experience the wonder of life enriched by God, thus forming the foundation of Christian principles.

G.A.A.

The Girls' Athletic Association is a club centered in sports. There is always some new and interesting game to play. In this organization a girl earns her points by doing some type of activity outside of school time. Some activities are hiking, swimming, skating, bicycling, etc.

Because there are so many things the girls can do together it is a very popular club at F.H.S. G.A.A. helps create good sportsmanship, co-operation, and enthusiasm which benefits school spirit.

Soon many of today's students will be venturing into the world—a world of facts and calculation—no longer to possess the age old fortitudes of home and school. Now, the feat of molding themselves into a successful, and respected person is their objective. In order that they may be better prepared, such organizations as the FBLA are made available to the student. Certainly endeavorance to learn more of the business world—its demands, its rewards, and its mannerisms could never be a hinderance to a recipient.

J.C.L.

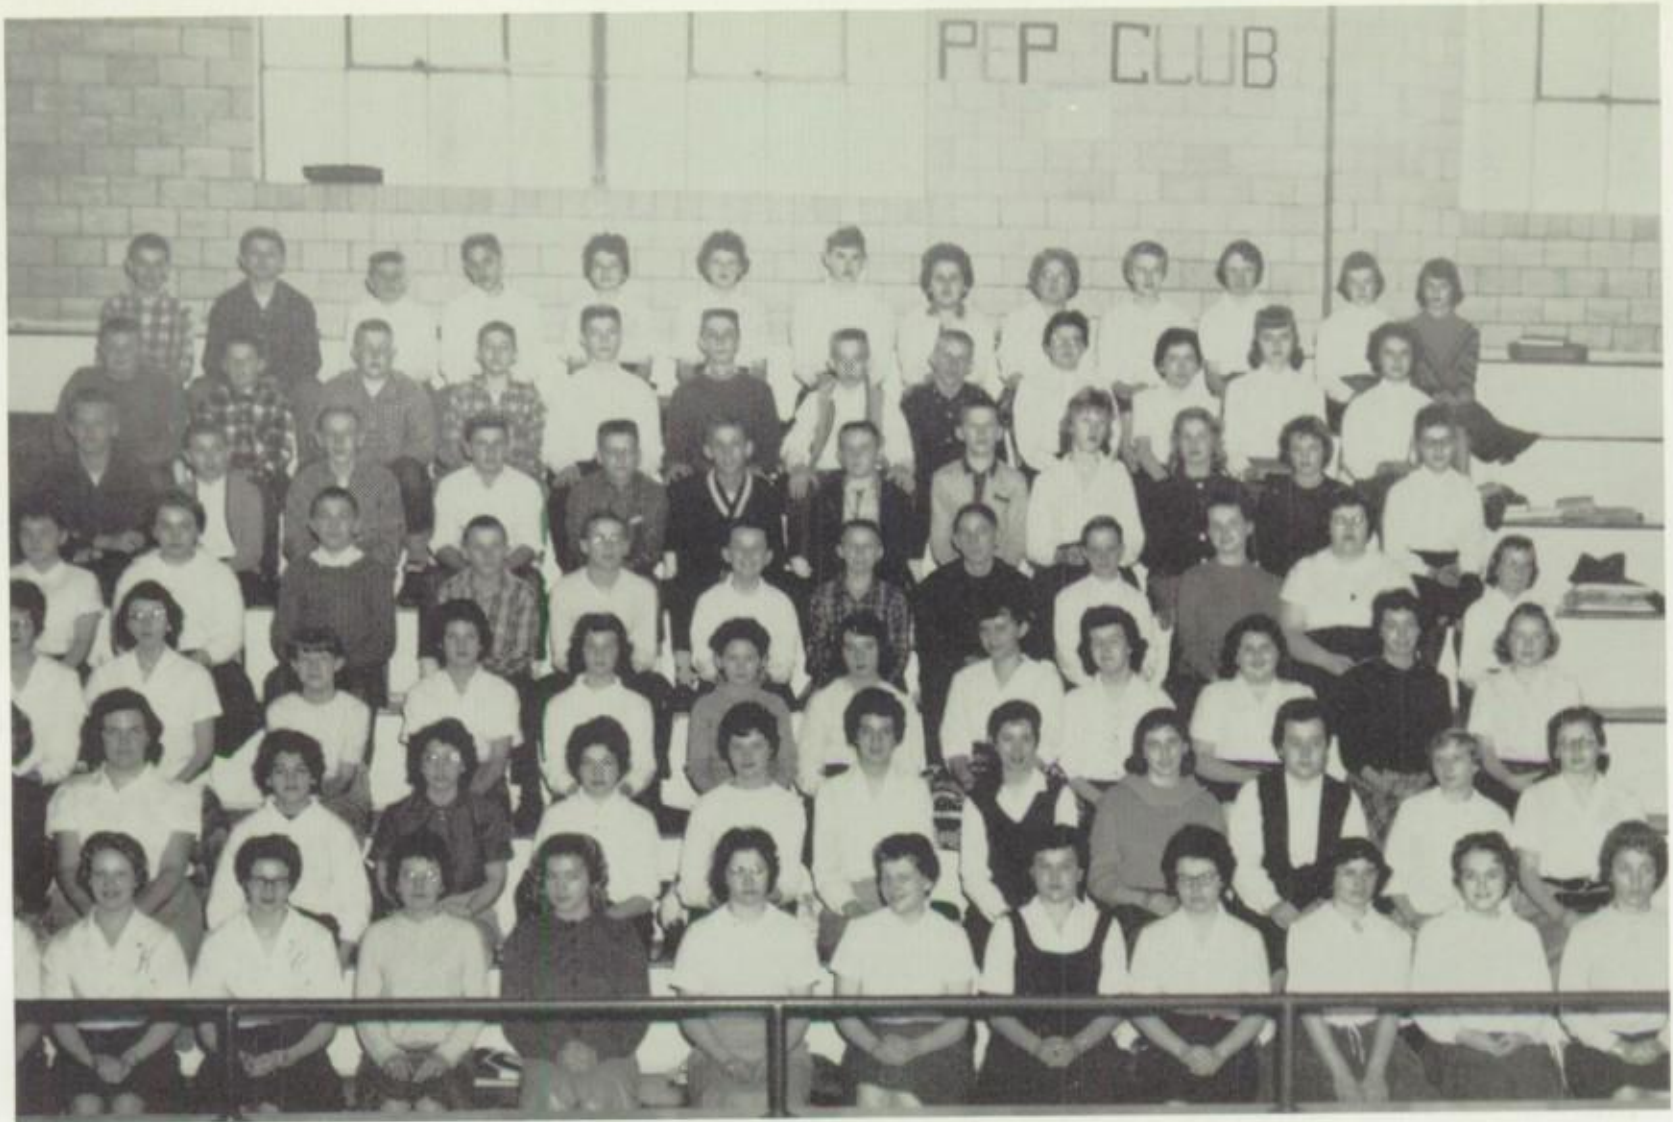

The interest in Roman civilization and the thirst for additional knowledge are platforms for the JCL members. True, they spend an hour a day in the classroom, but a multitude of factions are lost to the student interested only in learning what is required of him. The highlight of the year is a night lost in another era—The Roman Banquet—in which the participants utilize their newly acquired concept of the Roman Age and characterize the Romans from the food they eat to their clothing and hair-styles. Certainly, the expansion of the scopes of their minds, stimulating their interest in culture is a definite attribute to the student.

Music

Throughout the school year the members of the chorus and band work diligently to promote a presentable, worthwhile body of singers and musicians.

These activities add to the popularity of the school and create an education in music which will be an asset to the person throughout his life. Through this participation, the member learns essential things about music, and also learns to appreciate all kinds of music.

Although a first or second rating is desirable those who take part learn to be good losers as well as good winners, in the marching, concert, solo and ensemble, choral and twirling contests. The members experience the enjoyment of traveling to places and meeting people which is also an asset to better understanding of the fellow musician or countryman.

This year the band has made several recordings for radio broadcasts and journeyed to Kalamazoo for a television appearance, an honor gained through much extensive study and practice. Through public appearances and private practices, our band has risen to high positions. Participation in such an organization demands respect for the student and will be a reliable resource in the years to come, while he treads the winding road to success.

Athletics

Athletics are an important part of any school's extra-curricular activity. Through participation in sports, a school is recognized and can compete for top honors. Those who enter into athletics learn a sense of the value of good sportsmanship, cooperation, and healthy physical beings. The incentive to do one's best and competition are both factors in athletics which give way to popularity and the quality of an individual. An enthusiastic spirit and Christian character are both developed within the scope of sports of any kind with a respectable leader.

The lesson of good sportsmanship not only applies to the athlete, but also the spectators. Much can be gained through following and backing the team. Many of life's obstacles may be compared to sports regulations.

Though things are not always how we would have them, the important matter is not this, but how we confront these situations.

So indeed our school athletics are vital to the molding of well-rounded character. The moral lesson taught will aid us tremendously in our endurance for successfully living.

The high school baseball season of 1959 featured a good summer record of seven wins and four losses. The fall campaign included some very close battles and many overtime games in which the Eagles were not so fortunate. The Eagles devoted many hours to practice this season trying to rebuild the team for future years. This effort should show some results in the efforts of next year's nine.

The pitching staff included Jerry Rakestraw, Dale Chard, and Vance Kiser. Some of the top hitters were Max Bressler, Vance Kiser and Dave Anspaugh.

DAVE ANSPAUGH

Dave, a returning veteran from last year's hardwood campaign, has figured largely in the success of this year's team. With consistent high scoring and fine pass-work, he deserves a lot of credit for the honors the team has won.

ROGER BAKER

Roger, by means of his excellent jump shot and good ball handling, has come through nicely for the red and black in this, his final year.

GREG BARRY

Greg, who is another returning veteran from last year's squad, was a great help this year with his playmaking and fine shooting percentage.

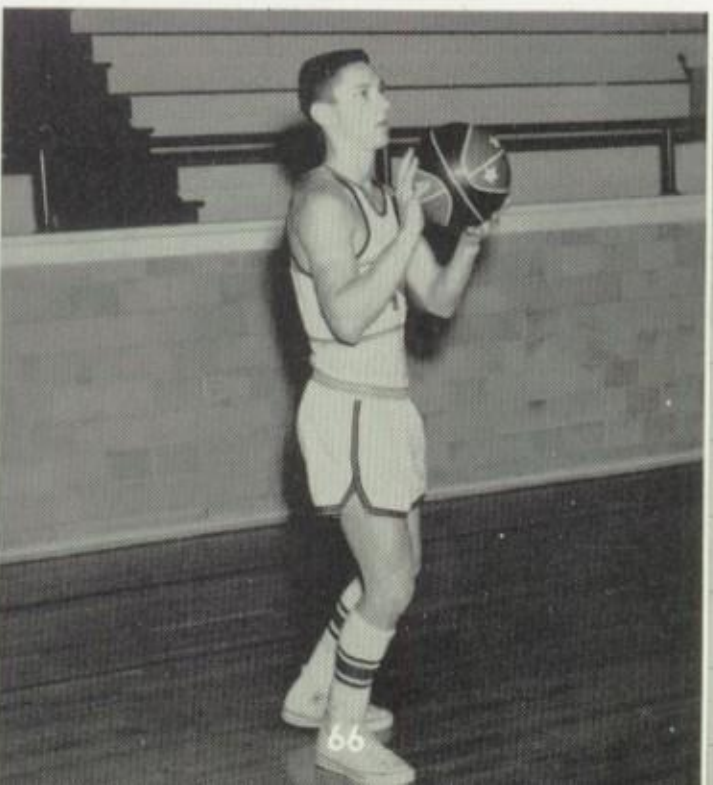

Top

MAX BRESSLER

Although this was Max's first year on the varsity he helped the team a lot with fine passing and by being a ball hawk on defense. Being only a sophomore, Max should be a valuable asset to the eagles in the years to come.

JERRY CHAMPION

Jerry has been a dependable player throughout the season although his chief value to the team was his fine rebounding ability and excellent team spirit. Jerry's spirited team play will certainly be missed in future campaigns.

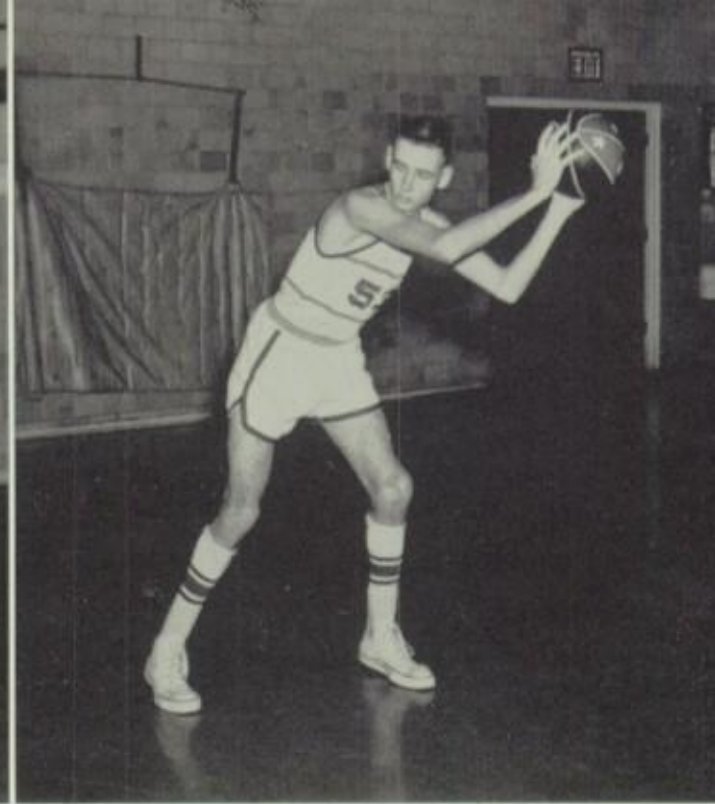

JOE CHAPIN

Joe's outstanding jumping ability and deadly jump shot made him a constant scoring threat and fine rebounder for the Eagles this year. Joe should prove very valuable to the Eagles in his last two seasons.

VANCE KISER

Vance, a first year varsity man, was important to the club through his spirit and accurate one hand jump shot. His height and rebounding should be valuable next year.

MAURICE MARSHALL

Maurie who was the biggest man on the team was also big in spirit and enthusiasm. This, along with good defensive ability, made him a valuable member.

Ten

EARL McNAUGHTON

Earl is a second year varsity man who helped the team a lot with fine spirit, loyalty and by always doing his best whenever called upon.

JOHN PETRY

John's speed and teamwork have made him a valuable asset to the club this season which was his first year in varsity competition. John was also very tough defensively.

STANDING: J. Petry, M. Bressler, G. Barry, J. Chapin, M. Marshall, V. Kiser, D. Anspaugh, J. Champion, E. McNaughton.
KNEELING: Mr. Mumaugh, P. Straw, Mr. Stafford.

Varsity

The 1959-60 season has probably been a rebuilding campaign for the Fremont Eagles, although the record was much improved over that of last year. Under the competent leadership of coach Mumaugh, the boys showed many bright spots, and the carry overs from last year's efforts were certainly much improved.

Not only the elements of good basketball have been stressed this year but also the other essentials of a well-rounded athlete. Two of the most important of these are sportsmanship and teamwork. These items not only are important to the good athlete of today but to the American citizen of tomorrow.

The boys do a warm-up drill.

Strategy for the game is being planned.

Junior Varsity

The second team this year was helped greatly by its two Sophomore guards, Jib Cole and Garry Henney, who were both leading scorers. The rebounding and passwork of Junior forward Larry Dunham was also a contributing factor.

Not to be underrated, the second team is of great importance through not only the building of future varsity boys, but also its moral support of the varsity team.

Dave Anspaugh, a Junior hurdler, and Jerry Lantz, Senior dash man scored the most points for last season's track team. The season proved to be very successful for the team.

Junior High Track

The track team had three meets. In a three way meet at Howe Military, Fremont finished second behind Howe Military with a Junior High from Elkhart third.

In a dual meet with Hamilton, Fremont held its own throughout the meet and won by a narrow margin.

The climax of the season was the Fremont eighth grade-Freshman Invitational Track Meet. Two Fremont boys broke school records in this meet. Willard Bradley threw the shot put 43 feet and 8 inches for a new record and Jerome Newbauer broad jumped 17 feet and 5 inches for a new school record.

The skill of starting is an element of a good runner.
